

Umar Awais Report Review

Writing Style

All the concepts has clearly explained and the writing style used makes it very easy to understand the usage of neural network as a breast cancer classifier.

Experimental Design

The experiments had undergone a careful examination and the set of experiments were designed in such a way that had helped the continuous evolution of our understanding about the behavior of the neural network.

Results

Results show a high rate of accuracy and we also have developed an outstanding understanding about the behavior of the neural network.

Verdict

Accepted